Choosing the focus for your SET DESIGN

What to consider and questions to ask

Please note: The content here should be considered a guide only and is not designed to box you in – only to get you thinking. At the end of the day we want you to stay creative and go with your gut instincts!

Shakespeare wrote at least 37 plays, so how can you choose between them when picking the focus for your Shake Fest entry? Use this worksheet the help you find a choice you are passionate about!

What are your strengths?

No matter which category you are participating in, it's important to play to your strengths. So write them here! Whatever it is, find a play that allows you to use what you've got as well as discover new talents.

What themes and issues resonate with you?

One awesome thing about Shakespeare is that he wrote about the human condition – that's one of the reasons why he is still celebrated today. Write a list of the things that resonate with you in your life today, so you can see if anything matches up to an existing storyline or theme in a Shakespeare Play, or the experience of one of the characters. When on your search, don't forget to strip back the fancy names and kingdoms so you can focus on the relationships and problems between the characters.

Examples: Unbridled ambition? Head to Macbeth. Friendship betrayal? Julius Caesar could be for you. Dealing with a love triangle? Check out loads of Shakespearean comedies like Twelfth Night, A Midsummer Nights Dream.

What are the moments of intrigue in the play that could be explored or highlighted through the stage design?

How much information about the play, it's characters and it's context can you portray through your stage design? What are the most interesting plot points or observations for your audience? What settings are key and how can you transform a theatrical space to meet the needs of the play? You can also take an interpretation of the play and update it – relocating the time period, the locations or the design inspiration. What unique perspective could you share with your audience?

Have a think about the different ways you could stage the play you've chosen and write/draw them here – then choose between them!
